Foreword

Inasmuch as there has been no adequate representation of the college since the plant was practically destroyed by fire in 1915, this book of views has been prepared in order that the friends of the college may gain a more accurate appreciation of its recent development. To be sure it is not possible to represent the spirit of an institution by any such portrayal, but it does in some measure show the material development of the college. The Book of Views is intended to present the buildings in their general aspects, and a considerable number of the departments engaged in some significant activity or sometimes a direct product of a department is offered as its contribution.

The college is profoundly appreciative for many evidences of the loyal support of its friends in the State of Missouri. It hopes to deserve at all times the confidence of those who believe in its mission, namely, the preparation of well trained teachers for all of the public schools of the state. We hope this booklet will interest you and that it may find such a real place in your thinking as to be worthy of your keeping whether you are a former student or have only an interest in the history of education in our great state.
